

"Have you entered the storehouses of the snow, Or have you seen the storehouses of the hail,..." (Job 38:22).

It is a rare thing to see something "new." But the snow phenomenon called a "snow roller" was something new for me. I had never encountered such a feat of nature.

The previous snowfall was 3 inches of the finest powder. There was very little moisture in it. But the rain/snow mix and wind that followed 24 hours later provided a spectacle of nature I will not soon forget.

The snow roller looked like a short fat log with a hole down the middle. I don't think that if I tried with some "wet" snow that I could reproduce what seemed to be in everyone's yard that was down wind. To see these little things was to see a part of the "treasure house" of the snow.

God has provided mankind with a creation that is beyond description. He has asked us to investigate what He has made so that we might come to have a greater appreciation and wonder at His greatness (Gen. 1:28). I wonder what little gem He has in store for us next time! I seriously doubt that this is the last "treasure house" of the snow.

The more one investigates God and His greatness the greater treasure one will find. Those who have turned their back on God have forfeited treasures untold. Seeing God in His creation, in His word, and in His Son, proclaims the treasure that awaits those who seek it.

I am thankful for the "snow rollers" for they remind me of my Creator in whom is the greatest wonder of all.

See you Sunday! -gls
